

Attention Teachers!

Three CPDUs are being offered for Ben's workshop. Make sure to check the CPDU space on the registration form, so we will know to have paperwork ready for you.

Stay the Day

Ben will be performing a storytelling concert for adults at 7 PM on May 1st, also at the Anita Purves Nature Center. All workshop participants are encouraged to join the audience for this evening performance.

In Appreciation

The C-U Storytelling Guild would like to thank the Urbana Park District for their co-sponsorship of today's events.

For more information about the Park District, visit www.urbanaparks.org.

The Workshop

That Reminds Me of a Story! Enhancing Your Storytelling

Learn how to enhance your storytelling with the inclusion of asides and “stories within stories,” creating richer tales, more fun, and deeper understanding of the characters and plot; thereby leading to better performances, more colorful stories and joyful participation.

Our Presenter

Ben Rosenfield’s stories come from his childhood near Cincinnati, as well as his own imagination. As a storyteller, teacher, school principal, and teacher trainer, he has emphasized storytelling to increase student achievement in reading, writing and the literacy skills necessary for success.

Ben is also a potter, making drums, yard art, and sculpture. His beautiful merchandise will be for sale after the workshop and concert.
